1 Tell us a little about your business – what do you offer and how long have you been downtown?

Hometown Apparel is a screen printing, embroidery, and promotional products company. We specialize in top-tier screen printing, embroidery, and any kind of customized apparel or promo products you can dream up. We've been screen printing and embroidering since 2008, and our storefront has been right here in downtown Chillicothe since 2016, so about 10 years now.

2 What inspired you to start this business?

I sort of stumbled upon it in my own personal journey of discovering my love for being creative, leading a team of people, entrepreneurship and serving people in the community. I never imagined I would be a "t-shirt printer." In my 20s I started a side hustle of selling promotional products to make extra money. Soon, people began asking me if I did shirts. Through organizing a network of contractors I launched the printing side of my business and began telling people "yes." Apparel quickly became my #1 seller. Over the years I've enjoyed leading my team with a people first philosophy – people matter more than shirts. I transitioned to all in house printing and we've continued learning and growing as a team in order to become subject matter experts to best serve our customers in their custom apparel needs.

3 What makes your business unique compared to others in your industry?

From what I hear from the community: our customer service. We're not perfect, although we strive to be. But we care deeply about our customers and move mountains to serve our people well. We have a people first philosophy, which means we put people at the center of everything we do—our team, our customers, and our community. When we truly care about people, excellence in our products and services follows.

4 What do you enjoy most about being part of downtown Chillicothe?

Honestly, it's the community. There's something special about watching everyone come together: working together, laughing, shopping, eating and drinking together. The community in downtown Chillicothe is unlike anywhere else. It really does feel like home.

5 How does your business contribute to or get involved with the local community?

We sponsor various sports programs, are a buyer at the Ross County Fair Jr. Livestock sale, and sponsor the More Than Shirts scholarship to local students, among other various community events that we play a role in.

6 What is one thing customers may not know about your business that you'd love for them to learn?

While we're experts at screen printing and embroidering custom apparel, we also have access to thousands of promotional products for small businesses. We have customers who rely on us to print thousands of promo items for trade shows each year. We also provide a variety of business printing such as business cards and banners. We've grown in these areas so that our customers can manage one account for various marketing and promotional needs.

7 Do you have a customer favorite product or service?

Our screen printing and embroidery, especially together, tend to be the crowd favorite. Our embroidery gets rave reviews for how well it holds up. Customers tell us it lasts forever and still looks great after plenty of wear. Our screen printing brings that same level of quality and care, so the two together are a combination people keep coming back for. Honestly, one of the biggest things customers rave about is our customer service. It's a big part of why people keep choosing us.

8 What's the best way for people to support your business (besides shopping with you)?

Share the good experiences you've had with us and forget any bad ones if you've had them! Lol. In all honesty, word of mouth continues to be one of the most powerful tools in marketing. We appreciate when people leave us positive reviews and like and share our social media.
